

Visit any one of Pennsylvania's 109 county and community agriculture fairs and you will encounter timeless traditions that embody our heritage and celebrate our agricultural abundance.

Pennsylvania fairs offer a full menu of memories to savor – from the authentic Civil War-style bean soup at the McClure Bean Soup Festival and Fair in Snyder County to the delicious donuts at the Kimberton Community Fair in Chester County. You can visit the oldest fair in the United States — the York Fair – which is my hometown fair, or the longest-running annual fair in the country – the Jacktown Fair in Greene County.

Pennsylvania's fairs are opportunities to see agriculture up close, to learn how our food is grown, to learn about livestock, and to enjoy the artistry of Pennsylvanians through their baked goods, paintings, photography, quilts, and many other fantastic exhibits.

This year, no matter where you live in Pennsylvania, I hope you and your family will take the time to visit at least one of our exceptional fairs. Each one is a great opportunity to come together as a community, celebrate our agricultural heritage, and make priceless memories that will last a lifetime.

Sincerely,

TOM WOLF
Governor
