This program is to fund the administrative salaries, travel expenses for administrative and supervisory personnel involved with the carryout of various Federal programs designed to benefit low income, underprivileged families in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In addition, these funds can be used for the following items with Federal Approval:

- 1) Automated data processing
- 2) Building space and related facilities
- 3) Capital expenditures
- 4) Insurance and indemnification
- 5) Management studies
- 6) Pre-agreement costs
- 7) Professional services
- 8) Proposed costs

Pennsylvania's allocation of State Administrative Expense monies (SAE) from USDA has been increased.

18. Grant description and results (give purpose of grant and describe key program activities and expected results in terms of a major program measure).

Funding is used to implement a cooperative detection program for plant pests of agricultural significance. This includes survey and collection of plant-feeding insects and nematodes, plant pathogens and invasive plant specimens and summarizing survey and sample data for inclusion in the National Agricultural Pest Information System (NAPIS). This detection program also involves responding to introductions of foreign plant-feeding pests and pathogens by conducting surveillance and eradication programs needed to safeguard PA agriculture. The fund helps PA stay proactive in preventing the spread and reducing the damage that could be caused by introduced pests. In addition, the national NAPIS database is used to collect, store and retrieve vital pest information.

Pennsylvania applied for and was approved for a caseload of 40,225 under the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) from USDA/Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) for the current federal fiscal year. (This program is known in PA as the Senior Food Box Program.) CSFP serves low-income seniors, aged-60 and older, who are nutritionally at risk. Eligible participants receive each month, approximately 40 pounds of specific food provided by USDA.

Funding will be used to implement Integrated Pest Management in commercial agricultural production of greenhouse, ornamental and vegetable crops. Through these projects, recommendations are prepared for PDA Inspectors, University personnel, industry and growers. The one on one contact with commercial producers ensures the proper use of pesticides as part of an Integrated Pest Management Program. This program is needed to assist agricultural producers in state with the proper use of pesticides and to control pests more effectively.

This is a Specialty Crop Grant from USDA. Pennsylvania's produce and horticulture industries are a vital part of the state agricultural economy. In order to enhance the competitiveness in these industries, funding will support the following projects:

1. Increasing child/adult nutrition knowledge and consumption of specialty crops;
2. Participation of industry representatives at mtgs. of international standard setting bodies in which the U.S. government participates;
3. Improving efficiency and reducing costs of distribution systems;
4. Assisting all entities in the specialty crop distribution chains in developing "Good Agricultural Practices", "Good Handling Practices", "Good Manufacturing Practices";
5. Investing in specialty crop research, including organic research to focus on conservation and environmental outcomes;
6. Enhancing food safety;
7. Developing new and improved seed varieties and specialty crops;
8. Pest and disease control and sustainability

The Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) is a non-native, invasive species that was detected first in Michigan, appearing in western Pennsylvania in 2007 and quickly spreading across the entire state. Quarantine proved ineffective for slowing its spread. Funding is used in support of a national EAB biocontrol project. With the funds, PDA grows tropical ash trees in our greenhouses, to ship to another facility where they are used as food for EAB being reared in a lab setting. Those EAB are then used as hosts for biocontrol organisms, to build the population of biocontrols.

18. Grant description and results (give purpose of grant and describe key program activities and expected results in terms of a major program measure).

Spotted lanternfly (SLF), Lycorma delicatula, is a new pest to the United States and has been detected in the Commonwealth. This is a potentially dangerous pest for forests, ornamental trees, orchards and grapes and not widely prevalent or distributed within or throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the United States. SLF has been demonstrated to be a pest of grapes causing wilting, dieback and mortality. Pennsylvania has implemented an IPM (Integrated Pest Management) strategy to slow the spread of this pest. Multiple strategies for control are being employed including but not limited to: quarantine, trapping, removal of preferred hosts, targeted chemical control of early instars, deployment of pre-treated sink trees where preferred host trees have been removed, targeted chemical control of adults, biological control if practical, mating disruption if practical. The general public will be engaged through outreach to assist with control of the pest.

Enhance Shared Accountability: Improve environmental protection through shared governance and enhanced collaboration with state, tribal, local, and federal partners using the full range of compliance assurance tools by starting the development, implementation and promotion of the PACS Programs in Pennsylvania. This will include training conservation district and private sector TSPs on the implementation of this new program and promoting the PACS Program to Pennsylvania farmers and assist them to document their conservation stewardship progress and success (plans implemented, BMPs on the ground).

The Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCP) cooperative agreement "Implementing BMP's and CNMP's on PA Preserved Farms" was approved in 2019. The RCP "Kittatinny Ridge Conservation Landscape" was approved in 2021. Both of these projects are reimbursement programs. Farms in eligible counties will be granted assistance in paying for conservation related improvements for the 2019 project and the 2021 project will be preserving farmland and wood land along the Kittatinny Ridge. Our third project, which was selected and will kick off later this year, is a statewide project. We will be installing climate-smart practices on preserved farms, preserving both agricultural and forest lands, monitoring carbon sequestration from the installation of these practices, and a portion of funding will be awarded to landowners transitioning their farms to certified organic operations.
